

POSITIVE LEGACY

One World United Through Music

Integrating music & service to benefit people and the environment

Board President

Over the past two years, I have had the honor and privilege to act as Positive Legacy's president. With the collaboration of an amazing board, staff, volunteers and fans, we have been able to take the organization to new heights and milestones. This past year alone, we put over $90,000 back into local communities supporting a wide variety of projects including school improvements and sustainable agriculture in Mexico, environmental programs in the Dominican Republic, music programs in Miami and healthcare needs in Haiti. This success in cultivating positive change throughout the Caribbean is directly due to the overwhelming support of Cloud 9 Adventures, the musicians and most importantly, YOU in the fan community!

Your support and involvement is both humbling and empowering as we work in chorus to take our amazing musical adventures in these distant communities and transform them into meaningful and lasting impact for the environment and local inhabitants.

As I pass the torch to our next president, I am confident that we will continue to not only set the bar higher but will be able to make even greater contributions both financially and through our service programs on the ground. My sincere thanks for your continued support for this amazing organization with your time, passion, dollars and interest! We could not do it without YOU!! I look forward to seeing your smiling faces again on the beaches, in the jungle and on the high seas in 2017 and beyond!

Executive Director

When I think back on 2016, once again I am amazed and humbled by all that Positive Legacy has accomplished, and by the love and support we received from countless individuals, music fans, artists, partners and organizations. A special note of thanks goes to Cloud 9 Adventures, for their ongoing strategic partnership and generous support!

In May, I had the opportunity to volunteer on a medical mission to Haiti with partner organization, Hands Up For Haiti. This trip gave me the opportunity to combine my 25 years' experience as a Registered Nurse with my role as Executive Director of Positive Legacy, and to see with my own eyes how our support has touched the lives of others. Over the past 5 years, Positive Legacy has provided a series of grants to Hands Up for Haiti and their partner organization Haiti Village Health, totaling over $37,000. This funding has helped to improve medical infrastructure and provide clean water to the local communities. The needs in Haiti are vast, and it's easy to become overwhelmed when you see people struggling with basic human needs, but the power is in knowing we are all interconnected and that it doesn't take much to make a difference in the lives of others.

Of course, Positive Legacy's reach extends far beyond Haiti to communities around the Caribbean, and here in the USA. I hope you'll enjoy reading our 2016 Annual Report, and that you will be moved to get involved in one way or another. It's not just our beneficiaries that gain something meaningful from the work we do. In the bigger picture, there are a growing number of people that participate in and support our programs -music fans, artists, volunteers, donors, Day of Service participants, staff, domestic and international partners... creating a powerful ripple of love and positivity. Won't you please join us on this journey to integrate music and service to benefit people and the environment?

Promoting Healthy Communities in Northern Haiti

Haiti remains the poorest country in the western hemisphere. Making matters worse, the nation was recently devastated by yet another major storm, Hurricane Matthew, killing over 400 people and leveling entire communities. To support the immediate and long-term healthcare needs of the 25,000 local residents, Positive Legacy provided a $10,874 grant to Hands up for Haiti to upgrade and expand the Haiti Village Health facilities in three areas. Functioning clinics with expanding space and services will ensure the impact of our ongoing financial legacy and promote healthy ripples through this region for generations.

Helping Break the Cycle of Violence for Youth in Jamaica

Jamaica is a land of contrast and contradiction. On one hand, it is the idyllic island paradise. On the other, Jamaica is crushed by debt, poverty, unemployment and violence. Building on the belief that sport can help to effectively channel violence, the Two Wheels, One Love Program teaches primary age children (ages 10-13), how to safely ride bicycles and value love and forgiveness in their daily lives. With Positive Legacy's $15,433 grant, the program provides an opportunity for 200 area youth to learn skills that promote healthy behaviors and alternatives to stem the tide of violence for program participants and those that follow.

Supporting Sustainable Agriculture Practices in Cienfuegos, Cuba

The island nation of Cuba remains a source of apprehensive curiosity for many in the United States. Isolated from the U.S. for decades, the Cuban people have much to contribute to conversations on sustainable development, organic agriculture, social fortitude, and cultural brilliance. After several Positive Legacy team members visited the island in May, a grant was awarded to long-time partner, Trees, Water & People (TWP) to develop educational, environmental, and cross-cultural exchanges on the island. Keep up with TWP and Positive Legacy to learn how to experience the music, people, and glorious landscapes of Cuba like few do – as a supportive neighbor and friend, not just another traveler.

Offering Educational Opportunities for Underserved Children in Mexico

Campamento Hidalgo is a small, indigenous Mayan village in the Eastern Yucatan, of 200 people. With a large number of children under the age of 18, quality education is key for the future success of the community. Currently, the local school consists of 2 small classrooms with 33 children each.

To support better educational outcomes, Positive Legacy awarded a $9,400 grant to Dreams for Mayan Children for a variety of school improvements. Our work in the Yucatan will further strengthen ties to this community and continue to leave a legacy of strong minds and bodies for years to come!

Providing for Disadvantaged Children in Nassau, Bahamas

Children the world over suffer the plight of being displaced from their homes for a variety of reasons. Sadly, this is no less true in Nassau. In February 2016, Positive Legacy awarded Bahamas Children's Emergency Hostel a $6,835 grant thanks to funds raised on Holy Ship! The Hostel provides temporary accommodation, food, clothing, medical care and other necessities for the benefit of abandoned and neglected children. Our support has helped to provide provisions at the facility that houses approximately 35 children - leaving a positive legacy for the children of Nassau far beyond our visit!

Bringing Music to the Children of Miami

The American Children's Orchestras for Peace works within communities to provide instruments and free lessons to at-risk children in Miami, Florida. Through access to music education, they hope to improve individual achievements, social skills, parental involvement, and most importantly-children's lives. In January 2016, Positive Legacy awarded a $4,324 grant thanks to proceeds raised on Holy Ship! Offering critical funding to continue their program in Little Havana - one of the poorest communities in Miami, our support proved critical in helping to put smiles on the faces of area youth and the bring the joy of music to their world.

VOLUNTEER SPOTLIGHT

Steph McAuliffe

"Live music has always been an integral part of my life and I'm incredibly lucky to have great venues near me on the Jersey Shore. Jam Cruise 15 was my first and will not be my last. I love the idea of being able to give back and the exchange of energy when you do something that may be small to you, yet big to the person receiving. I got to hang out with a great group of people where we spent the morning in Jamaica beautifying a park for the kids. We were then rewarded with a nice lunch and music by the water. I also had the opportunity to run around the boat one afternoon and met great people while handing out cigarette butt holders. There's so much we can do, with little effort, and Positive Legacy is helping to make our footprint smaller and to make a difference while we're enjoying great music."

ARTIST SPOTLIGHT

Sunny Ortiz

from Widespread Panic

"Positive Legacy has always been a big forerunner of helping the people that need help the most - like today (at Panic en la Playa Seis) where we used manpower to build a soccer field, paint murals, or just learn more about the [Mayan] local culture. It's important to know about where these isolated populations are and share with the rest of the community. I think it's important to one's self, too. I have all the respect in the world for those involved in Positive Legacy and what they are doing and showing to people like us...you...me." ~ Sunny Ortiz

The next step of the PL/TWP relationship is an exploratory trip to Cuba in November to see how the PL funded project is progressing.
